Once in a pond there lived a crocodile and a hippo. There was a tree near the pond on which a monkey lived. One day crocodile got nothing to eat. He saw a monkey sitting on the branch of the tree near the pond. The crocodile wanted to eat the monkey. He told hippo that they would call the monkey for their help and then he will attack on it and kill it.

The hippo wanted to make fun of the crocodile. He asked, "Friend, can you catch the monkey as it can jump and run away?" The crocodile was not very interested. The hippo said, 'It is a big monkey. I am sure its meat will be very tasty. I wish we both could share this monkey.'

So the crocodile called the monkey. He told him that he has not eaten anything since morning. He is very hungry. The crocodile asked him if he could bring him something to eat. The monkey was so clever he understood his plan. He made a long jump and ran away. He was too quick for the crocodile. The hippo made fun of his friend. He said, 'You are not a good hunter!' To this the crocodile replied, 'I would have caught it if he had not run away. But the monkey ran for its life. One who runs for one's life can run really fast. So, you please understand this fact before making fun of me.'

The hippo realised his mistake. He felt ashamed. He said, 'I am sorry, my friend.' The crocodile said, 'You have realised your mistake. Let's be friends forever.'

The hippo and the crocodile became good friends and the hippo never tried to make fun of anyone.

For questions 31 TO 35 Read the passage and answer the questions that follow.

Long ago, a hawk lived on the top of a hill. At the foot of the hill, there was a banyan tree on which a crow used to perch every day. The crow was very foolish. He would imitate everyone.

The hawk at top the hill would fly down every day in search of food. The crow watched the hawk circling in the air for long hours and swooping down when he saw his prey. The hawk, gifted with eyes that could see long distances, would spot his prey from the hilltop and then fly down to pounce upon it.

The crow watched the hawk, thinking, "Huh! If the hawk can do that, I too can. What does he think? One day, I will show the hawk that I can do the same thing."

A few days later, as the hawk was circling in the air, the crow decided to do the same. Suddenly, a baby rabbit came out of the bushes. The hawk saw it, and the crow also saw the rabbit.

Before the crow could move, the hawk swooped down, caught hold of the rabbit in his strong, sharp talons, and flew away. "Swoosh!" was all the crow heard as the hawk disappeared in the sky with his prey. "Hmmp! That is no great skill," thought the crow angrily.

The next moment, he spotted a big, fat mouse coming out of a hole. Without wasting time, the crow swooped down. Like the hawk, he tried to catch the mouse in his claws. But the mouse saw the crow and moved away; the crow crashed against the hill. "Eaaa!" cried the crow in pain.

Just then, the hawk came flying down. "I hope now you know it is not easy to hunt and it is not easy to imitate, either," said the hawk, and flew away.

Thereafter, the crow never imitated anyone in his life. He lived happily with the God-given abilities.

31. How does the hawk catch his prey?

- (A) The hawk blends in with the surrounding and then attacks his prey.

- (C) The hawk catches the prey in his beak and then flies upwards in the sky.
- (D) The hawk watches his prey from the tree and then suddenly catches upon it.

32. What happened to the crow when he tried to imitate the hawk?

- (A) He succeeded in catching the prey.
- (B) He fell from the tree and hurt his head.
- (C) He was beaten up by the hawk.
- (D) He crashed himself against the hill.

33.A Who said the given statement to whom?

"It is not easy to hunt and it is not easy to imitate, either."

- (A) The hawk to the crow
- (B) The crow to the mouse
- (C) The rabbit to the hawk
- (D) The crow to the hawk

34. What lesson did the crow learn at the end of the story?

- (A) One should be jealous of others.
- (B) One should treat others with disrespect.
